$2,444 IS OBTAINED FOR TORNADO FUND

Columbians Give Half of Necessary Amount First Day of Campaign.

TO CONTINUE WORK

Committee Determined to Get $5,000-Theater Will Give Benefit.

Columbians and residents of Boone County yesterday contributed $2,444.85 of the $5,000 which the Tornado Relief Committee decided would be needed to furnish adequate relief to the people whose property was destroyed in Tuesday night's tornado. The committee is being assisted by the women of the aid societies of Columbia's churches. They are cooperating to get furniture and clothing. Following a report of the committee Saturday afternoon, it was announced that the work would continue until the $5,000 had been reached.

Friday night a mass meeting was held at the courthouse to arouse interest in behalf of the stricken sufferers, and a relief committee was appointed to solicit funds. At a meeting of the relief committee yesterday morning at the Commercial Club rooms, the following men were named to solicit aid from the banks, the business houses, the farmers and the University offices:

The purpose of the organization is general improvement along educational lines. It maintains an educational fund, which now amounts to more than $35,000. The society hopes to raise $100,000 for the fund by 1919, the fiftieth anniversary of its founding. Money is lent from the fund to young women at least 18 years old, who have a high school education or its equivalent.
